

Spare time, I hang out with my wife, Sierra, my daughter, Elizabeth, she's about to be three years old. I do a lot of tea parties, I wear a lot of costumes at home while she dresses up like a princess. We're very active, so my family will go on little golf outings on the weekend together and my personal hobby is lifting weights and short course triathlon. But I spend the vast majority of my time with my wife and daughter, they're a blast.

Favorite candy. Hands down, it's a Snickers. I used to keep a Snickers in my lunch bag every single day in residency and residency's hard. So this was the one thing that I looked forward to every single day and there was one day I was working at the Markey Cancer Center on their bone marrow transplant unit. We had had a really, really tough morning and I remember I was unwrapping my Snickers bar and I dropped it on the ground. And I just kind of paused and when I looked up, the whole room had just stopped and the oncology fellow, Reema Patel, she looks at me and she says, "That's the saddest face I've ever seen." Snickers.

Favorite color's green. I love it. Don't know why. It's bright and I just love green.

My favorite sport varies according to the season. I grew up playing a lot of soccer, so I absolutely love soccer. I can watch soccer year round. My favorite sports teams, I love the UNC Tar Heels and I love the UK Wildcats basketball team.

If I wasn't going to be a doctor? So, if I hadn't been a doctor, I was very interested in anesthesia at one point, I really think I probably would've gone a nursing route towards becoming a CRNA, so I still would've tried to apply science to help other people, absolutely. I still definitely think I would've ended up in a medical science field, so I think I more than likely would've been in nursing.

You'd have to ask my wife. My dream vacation is whatever my wife's dream vacation is, so happy wife, happy life, Sierra. With that being said, I think Hawaii would be an amazing dream vacation and I also think Bora Bora would be a fantastic dream vacation. In fact, sometimes at my lunch break, I like to imagine that I'm in Bora Bora, especially during the pandemic.

Pepsi.

Black coffee. Black coffee on ice, for sure.

Puppies. 100% puppies.

I like air conditioning.

Phone call, for sure.

Both, 50/50.

Sausage and bacon.

iPhone.

Cake or pie? Snicker doodle cookie.

I wash the dishes at home. I hate putting dishes away. So I don't care to do laundry, I don't care to wash the dishes. I'll even wash the dishes at home, but Sierra will tell you, I hate putting dishes away. It doesn't make any sense to me, but I can't do.

Hamburger meat on tacos? Actually, I like pastor tacos, are delicious. If I had to choose between a pastor taco or a hamburger, I would choose a pastor taco.

SUV.

I like roller coasters. So for riding roller coasters, I would say amusement park. And it depends on the beach.

It depends on what's on television. I like a lot of live television. There are some shows that we watch on the different streaming things. I like live television, if there's nothing on live television, I love a good book too.

I'm from North Carolina, I love both of them. I love both of them.

This transcript was exported on Jun 16, 2021 - view latest version here.

Yes?

Summer, for sure. Summer, 100%.

No fan.

Ninjas are way cooler than pirates.